REGULAR MEETING
February 28, 2023

Moab City Council held its Regular Meeting on the above date in Council Chambers. Archived audio is at www.utah.gov/pmn and video is at www.youtube.com/watch?v=YN25-3PXpno.

Attendance and Call to Order:

Mayor Joette Langianese called the meeting to order at 6:00 p.m. and Joe Kingsley led the Pledge of Allegiance. Councilmembers Rani Derasary, Tawny Knuteson-Boyd, Jason Taylor, Kalen Jones and Luke Wojciechowski attended. Also in attendance were City Manager Carly Castle, Planning Director Cory Shurtleff, Finance Director Ben Billingsley, Recorder Sommar Johnson, City Attorney Nathan Bracken, Engineer Chuck Williams, Assistant Police Chief Lex Bell, Parks, Recreation and Trails Director Annie McVay, Police Administrative Sergeant Scott Finlayson and 13 members of the public.

Citizens to be Heard:

Joe Kingsley spoke regarding a dangerous intersection at Highway 191 and Aggie Boulevard.

Pete Gross commented on the existing noise ordinance. He noted that about 300 households have posted yard signs advocating for quiet streets and still more have not posted signs because of concerns about retaliation. Gross stated he has experienced an uptick in vehicle noise, including from sports cars and other vehicles. He explained that since these street-legal vehicles meet the criteria of being plainly audible from a distance, he would like to see more enforcement of these offenders, to show that law enforcement is not solely targeting All-Terrain Vehicles (ATVs) on City streets. He added that people feel assaulted in their homes by the noise.

Sara Melnicoff discussed noise issues. She said noise pollution is unbearable and people are moving away from Moab. She said she feels that she is held hostage by the noise and does not want to leave. She commented it is time to have a deep conversation about noise regulations. She mentioned that Christian Wright, who was recently arrested for making threats about the noise pollution, was a kind man who was driven crazy by the noise.

Presentations:

Legislative Update: Discussion ensued regarding several items of pending legislation in the ongoing session of the State Legislature. Lobbyists and staff, along with Mayor Langianese, Councilmember Derasary and Attorney Bracken, reviewed items including a bill supported by Realtors and homebuilders that deregulates fractional ownership of residential real property; a bill that adds a surcharge for new cars; dedicated infrastructure districts; short term rentals; prohibition of legislative approvals for plats and other land use code; development agreements and food sales tax.

Special Event Sound Monitoring:

Moab resident Joe Lema presented the results of his unofficial monitoring of loud special events at City venues. He reported that he gauged sound readings at the Summer Concert Series, the Moab Folk Festival and Scots on the Rocks. He said he took readings at certain nearby residences as well as in front of and behind the performance stages. He said one of the loudest readings resulted from a performance that eschewed the City's required professional sound engineer, and he suggested festival organizers should be reminded of local noise concerns.

He said the standards of requirement for development are outlined in the subdivision ordinance and involve approvals by Planning Commission and the engineering department. Shurtleff mentioned concerns regarding landscaping, dark sky compliance and total number of proposed twin homes and single units.
